JULY MAIN PRESENTATION RECAP
NAVAL SUPPORT UNIT, STATE DEPARTMENT

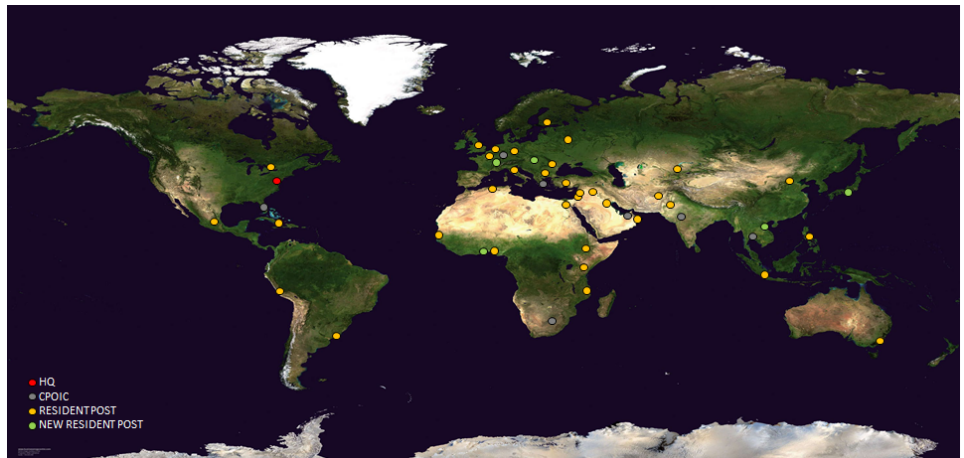

The main presentation was provided by LT Tim Dahms, PE a former SAME Guam Post Board Member and Post Secretary. LT Dahms is currently detailed to the Naval Support Unit serving as the Officer in Charge.

LT Tim Dahms, PE, USN,

On April 21, 1966, the Secretary of the Navy (SECNAV) formally established the Naval Support Unit (NSU). The formation of the unit was based on successful assignments of Seabees to embassies in Jakarta and Moscow.

A Memorandum of Understanding was signed between the Department of State (DoS) and the Department of Navy (DoN). The NSU provides the DoS with cleared, trained, equipped Seabee personnel to provide overseas technical security system support in the diplomatic mission to advance U.S. interests overseas. This unit involves construction, renovation, maintenance, and repair work in sensitive and secure spaces; including installation, maintenance, and repair of technical security systems, high-security locks, and security surveillance of foreign contract construction within the DoS facilities overseas.

NSU's current residence Seabee posting across the globe.

There are a total of 129 personnel in NSU: 10 enlisted and 1 CEC Officer (Dahms) on HQ Staff shore duty and 118 Seabees on Sea Duty. HQ staff is responsible for the overall operational and administrative control of all unit personnel. Seabees selected for duty with this unit will undergo approximately 26 weeks of specialized training before assignment to the temporary duty (TDY) pool or a foreign post.
